

DONOR SPOTLIGHT: THE COLLIS FOUNDATION & WOMBLE FAMILY

GLAZER HALL is grateful to The Collis Foundation and Womble Family for sponsoring The Andrew Henley Sullivan Family Film Series, a series where one Sunday a month GLAZER HALL will showcase inspiring, youth-oriented stories through two distinct screening options:

- 9:30 AM | Sensory Friendly Screening: Tailored for individuals with sensory sensitivities, ADHD, or autism, this session features reduced audio and dimmed lighting for a more comfortable environment.
- 12:30 PM | Traditional Screening: A classic cinematic experience for the whole family.

This series is a tribute to the life of Andrew Henley Sullivan, who passed away in 2024 at five weeks old and serves as a living legacy to honor Andrew while inspiring families and children throughout our community. In the wake of her grandson Andrew's passing, Astrid Womble—known for her unwavering positivity and resolve—wanted to honor his memory through a project that offered more than just financial support. Astrid's determination to turn tragedy into a source of light led to the creation of this series. Astrid & Matt Womble's daughter and son-in-law, Christina & Guy Sullivan, who are Andrew's parents, wanted his name to be associated with something meaningful in the area where they now live.

"It is incredibly important to us that Andrew's life and legacy remain present. Knowing that children and families will gather in his honor is deeply meaningful to our family. Through this series, Andrew will always have a place here—woven into the fabric of the community.

— Christina Sullivan

The series kicks off on Sunday, February 22nd with The Many Adventures of Winnie The Pooh and continues with Paddington on March 29th, Ratatouille on April 12th, The Little Prince on May 17th, Mary Poppins on June 14th, My Neighbor Totoro on July 19th, and Zootopia on August 30th.

"The Family Film Series is a wonderful way for families to enjoy meaningful time together. We wanted to create a series that was both high-quality and welcoming to all. When Astrid Womble approached us about honoring her grandson, Andrew, it felt like the perfect alignment of mission and memory."

— Allison Stockel, Executive Director, GLAZER HALL

The Collis Foundation, led by the Collis and Womble families, is a philanthropic organization focused on education, human needs, and the arts. The foundation's generosity extends further as they are also partial underwriters of GLAZER HALL'S Arts in Education Series.
